EmSAT TRAINING

EmSAT (Emirates Standardized Test) is a computer-adaptive standardized test for admissions to the University or college in the United Arab Emirates. The main purpose of the EmSAT test is to assess students' skills and knowledge in the area of interest for higher studies in targeted subjects.

The EmSAT determines the extent to which a 12th-grade student is ready to study at the college or university level. This test provides the higher management with data for college admission and placement. It is a computer-based exam where its test sections, questions, and options are randomized. Sections and subsections of the test are timed by the computer. Test-takers can see how much time they have throughout the ex
